

This rule would adversely affect small broadcasters. Our listeners would never allow those of us in small markets to make lewd comments or play off color music or jokes. One way you might think about would be to require it only if you have one complaint on a licensee or just have the top 100 markets, where most of the abuse has occurred, record their programming. We are looking at a possible new EAS system and other mandatory expenditures.....when I think that this recording issue is really a non issue in small markets.
